Disney Princess
BIBBIDI-BOBBIDI BOO!
Spin Cinderella to Watch Her Transform!

Cinderella lived with her stepmother and stepsisters. They treated her like a servant, but Cinderella always remained cheerful.

Then one day there was a knock at the door. It was the king's messenger with an invitation to the royal ball.

For each scene, turn the spinner to match the story.

The king was hoping to find a bride for his prince. Cinderella dreamed of going to the ball in a beautiful dress!

Her stepmother gave her permission to go once her chores were finished. Secretly, her mouse friends were making a pretty dress for her.

When her stepsisters saw Cinderella in the dress the mice made, they ripped it apart. Cinderella ran to the garden. Then her Fairy Godmother appeared.

She waved her wand and said, "Bibbidi-bobbidi-boo!" Cinderella's rags turned into a beautiful gown, and a pumpkin turned into a coach.

When Cinderella entered the ballroom, everyone noticed her—especially the prince.

He had no idea who the enchanting girl was, but he couldn't take his eyes off her. They danced all night and fell in love.

The night was like a dream, but then Cinderella heard the clock chiming twelve o'clock. Her Fairy Godmother had told her the magic would wear off at midnight!

Cinderella hurried from the ballroom.
She lost one of her sparkling glass slippers on the grand staircase.

The prince would marry the girl whose foot fit the slipper. He sent the Grand Duke to every house in search of her.

When the prince saw that the shoe fit Cinderella's foot perfectly, he was overjoyed. He had found the girl from the ball! They married and lived happily ever after....

Dreams really do come true!

Relive the magical instant when the Fairy Godmother turns Cinderella's dress into a magnificent ball gown—and helps her live happily ever after. Turn the spinner throughout the book to see Cinderella transform from servant girl to princess in this classic story.
